

THEATER & PERFORMANCE STUDIES MAJOR

REQUIREMENTS FOR 2020–2021 (UPDATED: 6/4/20)

DECLARING THE MAJOR

You may declare the Major in Theater and Performance Studies after passing two required lower-division courses: one practice course and one performance studies course. Refer to guide.berkeley.edu for details about the major.

LOWER-DIVISION REQUIREMENTS

PERFORMANCE PRACTICE TWO COURSES

- 10 Fundamentals of Acting I (3)
- OR 14 Performance Workshop (3)
- 60 Intro. to Technical Theater and Production (3)

UPPER-DIVISION REQUIREMENTS

PERFORMANCE STUDIES CHOOSE TWO COURSES

You may repeat the same-numbered course with different topics (except as noted for 113A, 113B, and 114). After you have completed the Performance History requirement, you can select the other 151A or 151B course to fulfill one of the two Performance Studies requirements.

- 117AC California Stories (4) so
- 118AC Performance, Television, and Social Media (4) so
- 119 Performance Theory (4)
- 121 Performance and Culture (4)
- 125 Performance and History (4)
- 126 Performance Literatures (4)

S = Summer
A = Abroad
O = Online

You may select one of the following courses to fulfill one of the two Performance Studies requirements:

- 113A Irish Theater: Origins and the Contemporary Scene (6) SA
- 113B Afro-Feminism, Creative Process, and Brazil (6) SA
- 114 Performance Research Workshop (4)

ELECTIVE REQUIREMENTS

Majors must take at least 24 upper-division units in TDPS (including the above requirements). Usually, three elective courses are enough to meet this requirement. Majors are encouraged to create a focus for elective courses. See the other side of this sheet for details.

ENHANCING YOUR TDPS ELECTIVE EXPERIENCE

DEVELOP A FOCUS IN UPPER-DIVISION ELECTIVE COURSES

Most TDPS students develop a focus as they select upper-division elective courses. A focus is not required and some students choose to take a wide range of upper-division classes in order to gain breadth in their experience. The focus areas below are examples of how to go deeper. Students may also augment their knowledge by taking elective classes in other theatrical disciplines when offered: Choreography, Directing, Playwriting, Scenic Design, Sound Design, or Collaborative Innovation.

INTEGRATE YOUR STUDIES WITH ELECTIVE CAPSTONES

Students can further deepen their studies by applying for Capstone experiences. These are self-initiated learning opportunities to expand research and teaching experiences with the guidance of faculty mentors. Speak with the Undergraduate Academic Advisor about how to design one of these experiences. Course details and applications for proposals are available on the Advanced Study / Capstones webpage.
